

E-J Electric Conducts Total Fit-Out to Upgrade BuzzFeed's Office Space

A Need for Expansion Drives BuzzFeed to New and Upgraded Location

E-J Electric is proud to provide electrical installation services for eight floors of BuzzFeed's new office at 225/233 Park Avenue South. E-J Electric's scope of service includes a total office fit-out for the 150,000-square-foot office space, installing lighting, fire alarms, power, switchgear and controls throughout. E-J Electric is proud to complete a fit-out of this significance, developing creative office space for BuzzFeed to accommodate 2,000 new employees.

Using Fit-Out Expertise to Overcome Project Challenges

E-J Electric's experience in office fit-outs enables the team to manage the challenges of an aggressive project schedule and to coordinate the multiple projects simultaneously underway in the building. Additionally, E-J's relationship with the project team, engineering abilities and competitive pricing are important factors to the team's efficiency in conducting the electrical installation
