RE: The New York Times Building Project

Dear Bob,

I want to thank you, your company and your project team for your company's performance on the New York Times Building Project.

This was a large, complex project for which I was the Project Executive for the general contractor, AMEC Construction Management, Inc. Your team executed the electric work in an effective and professional manner. They worked closely with AMEC's project team. They were cooperative and coordinated well with AMEC and the other subcontractors.

I will be happy to recommend your company to general contractors and owners for future projects.

Sincerely,
